Great Deer Hunting Season Expected in County

All indications point to another year of good hunting in the Grayling area, according to Ray Perez, DNR biologist at the Grayling field office.

"Fawn losses last winter were low," says Perez. "This large carry-over will mean more yearling bucks in the woods this season. In addition, fawn production this past spring was excellent. These two factors have given our local deer herd a big jump in numbers."

Antlerless permits have been increased substantially in order to control this rapid increase in deer numbers. Without this control, the potential for large deer losses is great, should this winter be severe, says Perez.

Prizes will be given both on Opening Day Friday, November 15, and Saturday, November 16.

Prize money has been expanded to cover the first 25 bucks brought in each day. The first ten bucks in each day is worth a $50 savings bond to the successful hunter. The next 15 hunters to bring in bucks win $10 cash each.

The first hunter to bring a buck into the Buck Pole at Skip's Sport Shop on Friday and Saturday wins another $50 savings bond for the first buck prize. Combined with the $50 savings bond for being in the first ten, the first hunter in wins at least $100 in savings bonds.

Natural, there's usually quite a rush to get bucks to the pole in the morning. Last year. at 7:35 a.m. Tamara Pettit, of Grayling, was the first hunter to bring in a buck on opening day. She won $150 in savings bonds because she won first buck, first successful woman hunter, and she was in the top ten.

The second day, another local hunter, Jack Stewart, of Grayling, brought in the first buck and collected $100 in savings bon-

Besides prizes for first buck in, first ten, and next 15 bucks, the Orange Coat Roundup offers $50 savings bonds to youngest successful hunter, oldest successful hunter, first successful woman hunter, and heaviest buck. All these prizes are awarded for both

There's also a grand prize to the hunter who brings in the deer with the largest rack. The lucky hunter wins a new Remington rifle with a scope.

Last year, local hunters took most of the prizes. Out of 20 bucks hung on the pole the first day, thirteen of the hunters were from Grayling and two from Frederic. On the second day, out of 13 bucks hung on the pole, 7 of the hunters were from Grayling and one from Roscommon.

Local hunters winning the special categories last year were — Tamara Pettit first buck in 1st day, first woman hunter; Jason Welser, 14, youngest hunter 1st day; Jack Stewart, first buck in 2nd day; Don Tucker oldest hunter 2nd day, heaviest buck 2nd day; Jack Millikin, 15, youngest hunter 2nd day; Becky Starks first woman hunter 2nd day.

To enter the Orange Coat Round-up, hunters need to buy a $2 Orange Coat Round-up button. They are sold at the Grayling Chamber of Commerce and Skip's Sport Shop.

This year the Buck Pole at Skip's will feature a big heated tent with hunter information inside. The tent will be open Wednesday afternoon and Thursday in addition to Friday and Saturday.

Whitey Madsen

From Our Corner...

Didn't you just love Saturday morning when you stumbled out of bed to fix the coffee...and then by chance looked outside to see if there were any robins around, and got jolted to find all that white stuff, instead of green stuff...just another reason not to trust the weatherman...we had heard all along prior to Saturday that there was a possible chance for snow flurries by Saturday...now if they were snow flurries Friday night, I hate to think what they will call it when a big storm moves in...

I guess when it comes down to the nitty-gritty, and with all this high technology the weatherman has at its disposal...there is one factor that cannot be ignored...there is a power above you and I...

Just to set the record straight...

It is not our policy to have to explain our decisions on how the Avalanche is run, editorial and advertising wise...

But, what has happened in the past week after the October 31st issue, we wish to clear the air...

In last week's issue we ran a Letter to the Editor from a lady, stating that I must want to cover up drug pushers...later we heard that a local electronic media used the same questions to see what their listeners felt...just great...it was hearsay, I wouldn't know, we listen to WTCM, Traverse City...

What started all this, was Jon Thompson came to me and said he would like to do something about the biggest drug bust in Crawford County that happened just a year ago...after he got all the facts, he asked me if he should use the full names or just initials?...

Through our some 45 years in this business I have never witnessed, or read where names were repeated following a year of conviction...unless they were caught again...

Jon Thompson's sole purpose was to write an article showing what an individual can expect to pay if they are caught...try reading the article again, and try to think positive...this is an advantage the print has over electronics...we're not in the wind...

This part of the record, we are regretful it happened...

In last week's issue of the full page ad on United Way's auction, the day it was to happen was omit-

We are sorry but, we got the copy for the ad Monday noon, to start with we should not have accepted the ad with as much typesetting to be done at that time...

Ads of that proportion should have been in our office no later than Friday morning...besides, the rough copy that was brought in did not have any date on it...Rena did a hell of a job just getting the type set Tuesday morning...contrary to the belief of many, there is more to getting your favourite paper out each week than just pushing a button...

We are sorry this had to happen...next time, we will refuse something like this at deadline...

By gosh, I didn't think this would ever happen to the fair city of Grayling, on the AuSable, with more jack pine around, that is far above your imagination...

We noticed in a throw away last week that Grayling is going to become the Victorian City of the NORTH...

We have been here only 40 years, and I spent my first 20 years in Gaylord, and I have always heard that whoever lived here were jack pine

It looks like a couple people want to refine us...I guess that is not all bad, everyone should get cleaned up sometime...

Grayling's lore has been...timber and mills, and the grand AuSable...Victorian? I'm a little backwards, I don't know where Victorian is, if it's south, the ladies here will still be able to wear their petticoats under their dress during Victorian Festival '86...for the gents, throw away your derby's, and buy a top hat...

I cried over the kitchen sink Sunday morning for the first time that I can remember...I peeled an Donion to go with our dinner tonight...

That did it, goodnight to our law firm, T.J., Stefany and Amber, and to all, be happy...

SOUTH AFRICAN REALITY

Who is the real enemy in South Africa? Are evil white men the primary source of all moral corruption there? Americans are being bombarded with appeals to our conscience to battle racism in South Africa at all costs. Mary Futrell, president of the National Education Association deplored the killing of 500 people since the declaration of a state of emergency in South Africa, she appears to have the moral hypocrisy to ignore the killing of almost 5,000 human babies a day in America.

The Intelligence Digest from England reports that South Africa is a treasure chest for Soviet pirates. They report, "The Soviet Union is already vastly rich in mineral resources (45% of manganese ore, for example). If it could possess or control the even richer supplies of strategically-vital or valuable minerals in Southern Africa (86% of the platinum metals, for example) that would mean that the Soviet Union would have 99% of that metal, 97% of vanadium, 93%manganese, 84% of chrome, and 68% of the world's reserves of gold."

Russia's crusade of 'national liberation' has added 36 previously independent countries to their network of satellites. Russian supported South-West African Peoples Organization and the African Nationalist Congress are spearheading the fight, with 30,000 East Europeans, Cubans, and North Koreans operating in Africa. The argument that white racism is the evil to stamp out in South Africa is a communist lie! If the present white government is destroyed, white Russian communists will govern the entire country. No matter who wins the present struggle in South Africa, white men will be in control. The real issue is what type of government will they have, free enterprise or communism? The winner here will also control the strategic sea route of South Africa's cape, resulting in control of more international shipping.

The economic planning of Scientific Socialism is setting us up like fish in a barrel. We are being manipulated into organized international finance. The moral and ethical values of Russian communism are already being taught to our youth under Secular Humanism. Socialism already holds a death grip on the free-enterprise economy of America. The liberals have already set the date of 2000 for our surrender to globalism. The Declaration of Independence is to be replaced with a Declaration of Interdependence already supported by dozens of liberal congressmen.

The current battle to keep Christian Schools open tells the whole story. A state legislator, the head of the state PTA, and lobbyists for the NEA and state school board said it well over channel 6 Omaha, Nebraska:

Did Winter Come Early?

By Jon Thompson

Think winter is here already?

With cold winds bringing 25-degree temperatures last Thursday and a snowstorm dumping 4 to 6 inches on us early Saturday morning, November 9th, it's kind of hard to argue winter is not here.

But take heart fellow tundra dwellers. We may have a few more days of fall before the "real" winter sets in.

According to weather records of Chuck Fick published in the Avalanche the last ten years, snow this early usually doesn't stay. Over the last ten years, the average date snow comes to stay in Crawford County is December 3rd.

In the last ten years, snow that stays has come as early as November 19 as it did in 1978.

Or it has come as late as Jan. 1st as it did last winter when a mild thaw from Dec. 28 to Dec. 31 melted the previous snow. A ten-inch snowstorm on New Year's Day soon replenished our stock for the rest of the winter.

For hunters interested if there will be snow on the ground for Opening Day Friday, November 15, in the last ten years there has been snow on the ground only once on November

In 1984, the high temperature on November 15 was 51 and there was no snow on the ground.

In 1983, the high temperature was 40 with no snow.

In 1982, there was two and a half inches of snow on the ground and the temperature high was 33. Ironically, that year the Opening Day snow melted and the county had a rare green Christmas.

In 1981, the high temperature for November 15th was 55 with no snow around.

In 1980, the high temperature was 33 with no snow.

In 1979, the high was 39 with no snow.

In 1978, the high was 38 with no snow.

In 1977, the high was 33 with no snow.

In 1976, the high was 39 with no snow.

In 1975, the high was 38 with no snow. Over the last ten years, the average temperature high on November 15 was 39.9 degrees Fahrenheit. But all these averages and numbers are going to be about as helpful for this year as a weather forecast from one of northern Michigan's meteorologists.

The best weather advice probably comes from a seasoned Grayling resident: "Sure, this snow is going to go away next summer."

THE UNITED States is a wondrous place, and its people are a wondrous lot.

Where else in the world would we be treated to an exhibition of tolerance and intrigue such as has unfolded with the recent visit of Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega to New York for the United Nations 40th birthday observance.

President Ortega delivered his expected diatribe against the United States, ripping our government up one side and down the other, blaming the hated "Yankee Imperialists" for everything ill or questionable that has happened in Nicaragua or anywhere else in this hemisphere since mankind can remember.

To say that Sr. Ortega and his Sandinista government in Nicaragua are not on the best terms with their counterparts, President Reagan, and the official United States government, is to understate the relationship.

Yet Mr. Ortega comes onto Mr. Reagan's home turf, as somewhat of an honored guest, and proceeds to villify and condemn the official posture and actions of his host nation.

Where else but in America could such a tableau unfold?

BUT THERE is more. Sr. Ortega follows up his speech to the United Nations with a shopping foray in New York, featuring -- among other reported purchases - some $3,500 worth of designer eyeglasses for himself and his family.

He also is pictured in publications across the land, jogging across New York's Central Park — accompanied, of course, by his ever present bodyguards.

And he appears on a popular American television program, as a guest of Phil Donahue, to send his anti-American message into living rooms across the Ah yes, where else but in America?

THE ORTEGA visit follows sharply upon the latest Sandinista internal action. wherein President Ortega ordered a sharp curtailment of civil rights and liberties in his revolutionary regime.

For a nation professing to reflect the will of its citizens, it was a strange action. Of course, it fits a pattern.

Ortega's Sandinistas had suspended most civil liberties back in 1982, restoring them just before a national election was called in November of 1984. Ortega won, to nobody's surprise.

Now, less than a year later, the hammer falls again. The sweeping decree suspended the rights to public assembly, the right to strike, freedom of expression, free movement around the country, the right to organize into labor unions, the right to a speedy trial, the right to appeal convictions, protection from unreasonable searches and unwarranted detention. OF COURSE, Ortega blamed it all on the United States. In issuing the order, he claimed "the brutal aggression by North -

Even that great American statesman, Phil Donahue, was a bit concerned. When Ortega appeared on his television show, Donahue asked: "Many of us abhor the Reagan administration's hostilities toward your regime. Why do you embarrass us by suppressing civil liberties?"

Self-appointed spokesman Donahue, it should be noted, was not embarrassed enough to dis-invite President Ortega from his video soapbox.

Maybe it's all a matter of timing, as pro-Ortega columnist Mary McGrory lamented in a recent piece. She recalled Ortega's slap in the face to Congressional backers when, shortly after receiving a favorable vote on a Reagan proposal, Ortega took off for an official visit to Moscow to seek more Soviet aid for his program.

BUT DANIEL Ortega is not really plowing new ground in his foray into enemy territory and his currying of popular support among American sympathizers. He is practicing the tactics perfected by an earlier master, Fidel Castro, in a similar circumstance.

Thirty years or so ago, when Cuba's Sr. Castro was seeking to establish his communist reign on another of America's neighbors, he, too, took advantage of freedoms and liberties in the United States which he denied to his countrymen.

Fidel Castro was another popular figure in some quarters of the United States.

Fidel Castro was another popular figure in some quarters of the United States, as Daniel Ortega is today. Both headed revolutions that ridded their homelands of hated dictators. WHERE DANIEL Ortega jogs in Central Park, Fidel Castro went to baseball games and played catch. Where Ortega goes shopping on Fifth Avenue, Castro cooked chickens in his posh hotel suites. Where Ortega held forth on the Donahue show, Castro delighted the panelists on Meet the Press.

You can look it up.

And for Castro, the ruse was successful - so successful that his stranglehold on Cuba has been in place ever since, causing floods of refugees to the United States, as well as endangering such flash-point world crises as the Russian missile crisis in 1962. Will it happen again?

To me, it is clear that there are many more similarities between Ortega and his program, and Castro and his program, than there are differences. And Ortega and Castro both admit as much.

Their words are there for those who choose to hear them.

You can look that up, too.

GOVERNOR ANNOUNCES

CLEAN WATER GRANTS Nine clean water grants totalling $250,000 have been announced by Governor James Blanchard, who said he wants to quadruple the program to $1 million in 1986-87. The program is designed to control water runoff pollution from farms, highways and city streets, and make lakes and rivers fully fishable and swimmable during the 1990s.

"We have done an outstanding job of controlling pollution from traditional sources such as municipal sewage and industrial wastes. Now it is time to open a new frontier in water pollution control." Blanchard said. He said up to 50 percent of all water pollution comes from nonmunicipal and non-industrial sources, with agricultural land uses the major source.

The grants go to farmers, local units of government, and other organizations, for information and education, and cooperative efforts to control runoff.

LOTTERY PRIZE TARGET AT $561 MILLION, FISCAL YEAR SALES AT BILLION

Lottery Commissioner Michael J. Carr announced at a Lansing news conference that Michigan Lottery sales should reach $1 billion in the 1985-86 fiscal year.

Carr also predicted that players will win an average of $11 million a week this year.

He said as a result, prize money won during 1985-86 should reach $561 million (including the total cash value of major awards paid in annual installments).

Carr said the move to twice-weekly Lotto drawings in August was producing targeted results with a 41 percent sales increase in the first nine weeks and 40 percent more winners; however, the top selling game during the year remained the Daily 3 with sales of some $342 million, reflecting a 7 percent gain from the previous year.

Prenatal Care: A Physician's Viewpoint

(Second of a 3 Part Series)

The following article is based on an actual interview between the author (Sandra Heintz, Arbor Associates) and Dr. Richard McMurray on October 9, 1985. Dr. Mc-Murray is the President of the Michigan State Medical Society and a practicing OB/GYN in Flint, Michigan. "The biggest health risk a woman can impose upon herself while pregnant is choosing not to seek prenatal care." This observation was made by Dr. Richard Mc-Murray, a practicing obstetrician/gynecologist and President of the Michigan State Medical Society. "Reversible complications which can occur during pregnancy may become irreversible and lifethreatening if the woman's condition is not monitored closely by her physician."

According to Dr. Mc-Murray, most pregnant women are basically healthy and will have normal deliveries. However, many of the health risks which exist today for both the mother and baby can be detected during regular prenatal care visits. The lifethreatening nature of many of these risks can be substantially lessened or eliminated entirely. Medical literature abounds in which data clearly shows that prenatal care is a highly successful and cost-effective way in which to preclude many risks to the pregnant woman and her baby.

There are several common health risks to pregnant women and their babies which are often successfully detected and treated through prenatal care. For instance, many things can be done today to reduce the incidence of premature birth which, Dr. McMurray noted, is one of the most common problems of pregnancy. Other problems, such as preeclampsia, which is a toxemia of pregnancy characterized in part by hypertension and headaches can be successfully treated with good prenatal care. If neglected, the patient can develop eclampsia, which is a major toxemia often resulting in death. Yet another complication, intrauterine growth retarded infants, where full-term babies are not as big as they should be, is a condition for which physicians are not entirely sure of the etiology, although it has been linked to smoking and untreated hypertension.

Dr. McMurray notes that many medical advances have been made in recent decades regarding prenatal care. Prenatal diagnostic techniques, such as ultrasound imaging, which is a non-invasive medical procedure, make it possible to evaluate the infant's growth inside the uterus. And the process known as amniocentesis can identify genetic or metabolic defects while the fetus is inside the uterus. "Both these techniques give the physician the opportunity to identify problems and make preparations to cope with the problems prior to delivery," notes Dr. Mc-Murray. There is also great-can do while pregnant to help insure the birth of a healthy baby, in addition to seeking early and regular prenatal care, Dr. Mc-Murray replied "follow the physician's advice." He expressed real frustration with women who seek a physician's help, but then do not conform with any of the suggested changes in lifestyle to keep them healthier. "I tell my patients, anything you do, do in moderation." The pregnant woman should quit or reduce smoking, caffeine, and alcohol intake. It is also important to check with the physician before taking any drugs, including over-the-counter types. Nonstrenuous exercise, such as walking, is excellent. Basically a pregnant woman can continue doing exercises she is in the habit of doing, because her body has already adjusted to the exercise. This is not, however, the time to take up something new...like sky diving or Nutrition is extremely important to both the mother and baby. Dr. McMurray observed, "There was a time when 'control your weight' was the theme of all obstetricians. We don't do this anymore. We figure it takes between 1500 and 1600 calories a day to provide good nutrition for the patient. However, it is important that the calories are nutritious, rather than empty." "Empty" calories, according to Dr. McMurray, would include much of the "junk food" consumed today, such as greasy fast food french fries and hamburgers. It is very important for the pregnant women to have three well-planned meals a day. Seeking early and regular prenatal care, following the advice of the physician, and adopting a lifestyle of "moderation" are key elements in helping to insure a positive pregnancy experience and the birth of a healthy baby. If a woman is pregnant or suspects she is pregnant, she should contact a physician or call the local health department in her area for more information about the prenatal care services and programs available to her. Pregnancy, a special condition, requires special care immediately.

Former Cong. Don Albosta Throws Hat in Ring '86

Today I am announcing my candidacy for re-election to Congress from the 10th District of Michigan. President Andrew Jackson said it: "If the people error in an election, they have a chance to correct it in the next election". This campaign will take a high road, but I will not hesitate in this election to keep the record straight. I have spent six years in the greatest learning institution in the world — the U.S. Congress - and would like to use the clout I have with other members of Congress (both Democrat and Republican) to set the course for the next century and to make sure Michigan gets a fair treatment in tax laws and all legislation.

Only a person with a background such as mine could understand the needs of the 10th District. In life, as in politics, experience makes a difference. Growing up on a farm, buying my own farm and making it a success has given me that experience. As a small businessman and a person who has worked with his hands, I believe I have made a difference in Wash-

People in this part of Michigan want more than a cloud of political rhetoric. This is a truth-starved group of people. Bill Schuette has done no less for them now than he did during the 17 months before the 1984 election. As you may recall, with all his money, he was able to buy ads stating Don Albosta missed every vote on the Agriculture Committee. That was an outright lie. I never missed even one vote while I served on that comand Congressional Quarterly stated recently that "Don ledgeable on agricultural matters". I will be everywhere I can go in this District for the next year and I invite you to let me speak on the issues of the day to any group, civic organization or club. Call or write me and insist that your leaders invite me to your meetings. Don't let the great wealth of the Schuette family from Midland close

I believe people will choose wisdom and experience over the low road tactics of the past.

I will conduct a grass roots campaign and anyone interested in working or helping in my campaign for 1986, please call or write me at 4400 W. Fry Road, St. Charles, Michigan 48655 or phone (517) 770-4234.

Herbal Corner

Darlin', I should like to share a one-time, unforgettable experience with you. Funny? I did not see anything humorous about it, but I will let you be the judge.

This friend, and I use the term loosely, talked me into demonstrating natural dyeing to a group of 4-H girls at a camp. I thought I would use blueberries and tea things to which everyone can relate.

On an antiquated cookstove I used my large 21quart stainless steel bowl filled with water and mordant - aluminum sulphate (which is used to keep the colors from fading) - and a quart of blueberries.

When the pot was done boiling, I very proudly took the bowl over to the table for easy access for everyone, wondering all the while why the interior of the stainless steel bowl no longer shined. In the next few minutes a couple things happened almost simultaneously.

I went back to the kitchen to get the other pot. When I got back to the table I found over half a dozen girls dipping their hands half up to their elbows in the dye; and I noticed my blouse. You guessed it. Their hands ranged from blue to fuschia, and my pretty white blouse with pastel stripes now had purple polka dots with two larger ones strategically located at mid-chest.

Intelligent I like to think I am, but there are times when I know I was at the end of the line when the good Lord was passing out common sense.

What did I learn, you ask? Well, darlin', I try to think of my bleach whenever possible; I know my stainless steel bowl will never be the same; and to never trust anyone or anything under a 100 years old, and even then to still keep my options open.

Herbally yours, E. Diona Cerelli, C.H.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick Conservation Officer

With the deer hunting season only hours away, this is a good time to review the Ten Commandments of Firearm Safety:

1. Treat every gun as if it were loaded.

2. Keep the muzzle pointed in a safe direction at all

3. Be sure the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

4. Be sure of your target before pulling the trigger. 5. Unload guns when not in

6. Never point a gun at something you don't intend to shoot. 7. Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun. 8. Never shoot a bullet at a hard, flat surface or at water. 9. Store guns and ammunition separately and out of reach of children. 10. Avoid alcoholic beverages and drugs before and during your hunt.

Deer hunting in Michigan is among the safest activities in which a person can take part. It is 3000 times safer than football, 400 times safer than baseball, 200 times safer than basketball and 10 times safer than swimming. Mandatory hunter safety education and required wearing of hunter orange apparel have done much to reduce hunting accidents. But don't forget, the most important thing you take with you is your common

DNR Law Enforcement Chief Appointed

Lansing — Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Director Ronald O. Skoog announced this week the appointment of Captain H. Ransom Hill, of Roscommon, to Chief of the DNR's Law Enforcement Division. His appointment will be effective November 4, 1985.

Hill, a 29-year veteran of law enforcement work with the DNR, will head the Division responsible for the enforcement of the State's game and fish laws and environmental protection laws. He takes command of a uniformed force of over 140 Conservation Officers stationed throughout Michigan.

He replaces Frank Opolka, who left his position as Chief of the Division in March, 1985 to become Regional Director for DNR operations in the Upper Peninsula. Bernard Morgan, who filled in as Acting Law Enforcement Chief during the interim, will resume his previous duties as DNR's Regional Law Supervisor for the U.P.

Hill, 55, is currently DNR Regional Law Supervisor for Michigan's northern Lower Peninsula. His career with the DNR began in 1956 as a Conservation Officer stationed in Norway out of DNR's Crystal Falls District Office. In 1967, he was promoted to Lieutenant as District Law and Fire Supervisor with the Department's District Office in Newberry.

In October, 1979, Hill left the Upper Peninsula for a promotion as Captain and Divisional Law Supervisor at DNR's Lansing headquarters. While in Lansing, he was also supervisor of Special Investigations with the Division and headed the nationally known Report All Poaching (RAP) program from 1980 to 1982. In April, 1982, he left Lansing to take on his present position in Roscommon as DNR's Regional Law Supervisor.

Hill served in the U.S. Marine Corps for three years during the Korean Conflict as a platoon sergeant. He currently resides in Roscommon with his wife, Arlene; they have four children, Denise, Michael, Beth and Andrea.

Mercy Hospital Receives Grant for Human Needs

Mercy Hospital has been awarded a grant for $6,000 from the Emily George Fund for Human Needs, the foundation program of the Sisters of Mercy Health Corporation, Farmington Hills, Michigan. The grant application was developed by the Community Services Office of Mercy Hospital in cooperation with several community agencies. Mercy successfully competed with 64 other proposals from 20 different states for this award.

year project, called "Right Step". This program is aimed at girls, age 12-15 and currently in grades 6-8. Through an intensive structure of group meetings and peer support, the project will focus on building self confidence, developing appropriate decision making skills; explore alternatives for school, work, recreation, and development of healthy habits and lifestyles.

"Critical decisions are being made at this age, some of which can affect the immediate and long term future of a girl", stated Ms. Pat Hanson, Community Service Coordinator for Mercy Hospital and grant manager. "Many youths are not given the tools by which make appropriate decisions, or decisions are made based on faulty self concepts. We hope to provide guidance, direction, and support to enable girls to make decisions that encourages school success, healthy peer and parental relationships, and discourages early drug and alcohol usage and sexual experimentation."

Several good programs are currently being operated in the community that are dealing with "after the fact consequences" of poor choices and decisions. Right Step aims to act in a preventive mode before significant problems occur."

The hillside across from the headquarters is covered with a variety of tree species and it is easy to look at it and see a forest, but at the same time ignore individual trees.

The pines are very obvious since they are now the only green showing. Even from this distance the difference between the Red and White Pine can be seen. The maple blend in somewhat because they are bare of leaves, while the birch stand out because of their white trunks which now show through the leafless branches of their neighbors.

At the time I'm writing this, the aspen are a bright shimmering yellow. A hefty percentage of the trees there are oaks and without going over there to look specifically, I'll bet there are two different kinds.

In North America the oaks are divided into two groups; White Oaks and Red Oaks. In all, (according to one source I have) there are forty species of oaks. In this area we have two main species; the Northern Red Oak and White Oak. Determining which group the oak in your back yard is in, is not difficult. The leaves on Red Oak have pointed bristle-tipped lobes. Their acorns require two years to reach maturity and to top it off, the meat of the acorns is bitter to the taste. On the other hand, the leaves on most of the White Oaks have rounded lobes. Their acorns mature in one season and the meat of the acorns is not bitter, which makes them excellent wildlife forage.

Rural Electric Offers Reward

Boyne City - Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Co. is offering a $500 reward to anyone providing information that leads to the arrest and conviction of persons shooting insulators and other distribution equipment.

Although insulators may be a tempting target for hunters, a broken insulator can lead to power outages, downed wires, pole fires and injury or possible death to linemen. The hazards often occur weeks after the initial damage to the insulator.

Downed wires are also a danger to the public.

Outages are costly, particularly for Top O' Michigan's commercial members who rely on electrical service for their business operations. Top O' Michigan also incurs extra expenses due to outages that are passed on to its members.

Outages also endanger the lives of members who have life-support equipment in their homes.

Persons with information regarding the destruction of distribution equipment should contact the Top O' Michigan office in Boyne City or their local law enforcement agency. Top O' Michigan is a rural electric cooperative distributing power to more than 30,000 members in 12 Northern Michigan counties.

Great American

Smokers who want to give up the cigarette habit may find the task easier on Thursday, November 21. That's the date of the American Cancer Society's ninth annual Great American Smokeout — a day when the nation's 54 million smokers are encouraged to kick the habit for at least 24 hours, just to prove to themselves that quitting is possible.

A special program, "Adopt-A-Smoker" has become a popular feature of the Smokeout. Nonsmokers can be a part of the Smokeout by 'adopting' smokers they'd like to have quit for the day. Adopters can offer snacks, encouragement, and support throughout the day. An adopting booth will be set up at the Grayling State Bank on November 21.

Although the Great American Smokeout may seem all festivities and celebration, it has a very serious purpose since more than 340,000 Americans die each year of diseases linked to smoking, representing one out of every seven deaths in the United States.

Last year, a record number of smokers - an estimated 20.4 million, according to a Gallup survey - participated in the Great American Smokeout. Of the participants, 5.4 million smokers about 10 percent of the nation's smokers - succeeded in quitting for the day. Approximately 3.1 million still were not smoking one to five days later. "These are impressive statistics," says Smokeout Chairman Larry Hagman, star of the television series "Dallas". "They represent a growing number of Americans who have a strong desire to stop smoking."

Dear Whitey, "I'd like to raise a little stink myself". Recently, I found I had a family of skunks under my office, which was not difficult to diagnose. The Animal Control Officer was kind enough to loan me a live trap after the DNR told me "he's yours, shoot it" I think we are all well aware of what a dead skunk smells like, so I was not about to send him off to meet his maker on the chance that I would be left with residue of Le Spirit De Skunk for the next few weeks.

We finally trapped one of the little critters, and again I called the DNR asking that they come out and pick him

I was told that it was not their job. Seven hrs. later and after 3 more calls to the DNR by Linda Sprague, two men consented to meeting her here. It was she who had to cover the cage and help one of the men to load the little beast into their truck while the other man stood aside, way aside, with his nose in the air. Testing? If Linda had gotten sprayed, it could have thrown her tracking dog's nose out of whack for a month. If you catch the

Since then, we have trapped several others, but the DNR still refuses to do anything. I would like to thank Marge, Linda and Pat for their help in this matter.

Question, what are we paying all those big brave men at the DNR for? Hmmm - makes ya wonder, don't it?

Don't you think though, that it was awfully kind of the DNR for allowing Mr. Le Pew a seven hour nap before his long journey to the edge of town?

years, J.C. Commonwealth has performed before thousands of people in churches, camps, coffeehouses, high schools, and colleges across the U.S. and Canada with programs that speak to all ages and denominations. The group has compiled over eight hours of original material broken down into short skits. These skits deal with a variety of different issues, problems, and situations faced by Christians today. James Mulholland, the groups' writer, draws from Bible stories and parables, current issues, and personal experiences to bring his ideas to life. Mulholland uses ordinary characters in the sketches to allow the audience to relate. The person on stage could be because something very just like your next-door special has happened. J.C. neighbor, or even like your-Commonwealth would like to self. J.C. Commonwealth invite you to share in an uses their skits to encourage the audience to take a closer look at themselves and at their surroundings.

Band Boosters

"Here comes the band!", "What's a parade without a band?", "Band music really makes a parade!". These were some of the comments overheard at the Halloween parade as the little goblins, ghosts, and witches followed our marching band from the elementary school to the downtown area displaying their cute, and sometimes very creative, costumes. Band council president Beth Bedard says the band wants to give special thanks to all the band boosters for the hot chocolate and cookies after half-time performances at the last two games.

The first selection for the final game was the favorite, "Advance of the Roman Soldiers". A square dance routine followed to a John Denver piece, "Thank God I'm a Country Boy!", which highlighted the rhythm section. The Flag feature was to a Herbie Hancock chant, "Rockit". The full band performed the final selection which was a revival of an old tune, "Happy Days are Here Again!"

Don't miss the first formal band concert on Thursday, December 12th!

CHURCH DIRECTORY

Funny how things set a person's mind to working...

My wife had said, "The keys are on the table," and we both were thinking of the car keys. I have that abominable habit of laying them down wherever I put my gloves — and I'm always losing my gloves.

But when I saw the keys, I saw the Bible, too. We always keep it there even though we seldom read it.

"The keys are on the table." I am just enough of a philosopher to see the chance implication of those words. The keys to a great many things must lie within the covers of that Book. Perhaps the keys to all of the really important things for you, and for me, and for everyone else.

We've been searching far and wide for the keys to peace, and security, and fairness, and brotherhood.

Are the keys for you on the table?

Spanish Classes

Grayling middle school classes had the opportunity to see authentic Spanish Flamenco dancers from Spain. On November 7th they had a field trip to Interlochen Center for the Arts to see El Morao — a company of dancers and singers performers led by Manuel Moroa, a world renown gypsy guitarist.

Students had the experience of participating in and enjoying the culture of the language they are learn-

Teacher for the middle school Spanish classes is Mrs. Nona Brigham.

Home Ec

The homemaking classes were all "tuned in" to Halloween activities. The seventh graders made cupcakes and decorated them. The sixth graders made rolled sugar cookies which they frosted and trimmed and the eighth graders made pumpkin cookies. Seventh and eighth graders have finished their sewing projects while the sixth graders are starting their tote bags.

Home economics students also baked cookies for the parent/teachers conferences which the parents enjoyed on Thursday afternoon.

Teacher for the home economics classes at the middle school is Mrs. Dora Lantzsch.

New Resources Directory

Mercy Hospital and Community Family and Children Services of Grayling and Gaylord have collaborated on the development and production of the Crawford County Community Resources Directory. This directory lists all not for profit agencies and organizations plus all local, state and federal governmental offices for the county. Some of the special listings include local clubs and organizations; national health organizations (i.e. American Heart), local property owners associations, State and Federal representatives.

"We have tried to be as thorough as possible" stated Pat Hanson, Community Services Coordinator, Mercy Hospital. "However, we realize that we have probably missed some organizations or listed them incorrectly". Bob Smock of Community Family and Children Services indicated the directory would be updated next fall. Persons noting inaccuracies or requesting additional information in the directory, should send them in writing to the address listed in the front of the directory.

Chamber's Work Benefits All

Citizens In Our Community

(By: Don Geiss)

An active chamber of commerce helps the economy of virtually everyone in a community because every time they aid in obtaining a new industry or encourage a visitor they assist in bringing money to the area.

The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce often times is unfairly thought of as a business organization. While it is true that a heavy portion of its funding comes from that source, the end product of doing an excellent job benefits each citizen.

Weyerhaeuser officials have testified that one of the reasons they located near Grayling is because of the cooperation they received from the Chamber. It is difficult to argue that hundreds of jobs did not benefit everyone.

Obviously city and county officials are heavily involved in recruting new industry but the point here is that the Chamber does its share in improving the economy by assisting in the recruitment.

Each year the Chamber holds numerous receptions for the various National Guard, Reserve and Regular Army units that come to Camp Grayling. Those receptions are the communities way of thanking the military for coming to the area and frankly speaking, spending their money. That money circulates many times in the community. It makes it possible to employ extra personnel in places of business and many persons at the camp during the summer months. Those persons who are employed spend the majority of their income in Grayling and this in turn serves to necessitate yet additional employees in the area.

Obviously the same thing is true of the effort to encourage tourists. These visitors fill our motels and restaurants. They head for cottages and purchase groceries. Many of them rent the cottages from local landowners. Once again each dollar that is spent in the locality tends to generate more jobs, more income and a better economy.

"Heart of the North"

The Chamber is dedicated to attract the industry, businesses and tourists to the area. They carry out that dedication by actively pursuing industry through an Industrial Development Committee. That committee is made up of citizen volunteers who believe that everyone benefits from new employers.

The Chamber through such organizations as the East Michigan Tourist Association and the Michigan Travel Bureau works to put across the idea that Crawford County is an excellent place to vacation. The Chamber answers the individual inquiry by providing specific information as well as that which may be an additional spur to visit here. An example might be when a potential tourist asks about trout fishing on the AuSable River. That person might well be furnished with a paper about the river fishing, another which deals with fishing the Manistee River, perhaps a brochure that identifies sporting goods stores where additional information can be had and a general map of the county. When the person arrives on the scene, he or she might seek more information from the Chamber or from one of the sources that he was referred

At each step money may well change hands and ultimately result in a trickle down effect to all citizens. If any reader has doubts about how he or she might benefit, let them consider what places of business might not be available if the Chamber was not promoting the Grayling area for a better economy.

After all, we all should be interested in a quality life.

Discovers Past

Christmas Walk

Return with us to yesteryear and recapture the flavor of a time when life was slower. Enjoy the spirit of the season as it was for our grandparents and great grandparents.

It's "a remembrance of things past", as Flowers by Josie and The Grey Goose Gifts, The Icehouse Quilt Shop and Weaver's Gifts celebrate their second annual Christmas Walk and Open House.

Festive. Unique. Nostalgic. Three words which describe the season you'll find at Flowers by Josie and The Grey Goose Gifts.

The memories of Christmas past come alive as you tour our store and see the artistic talents of creative individuals expressed in this Christ-

Marie Woehrle, noted china painter, will display a special Christmas collection and explain in detail her unique art form.

Pianist Matthew Ewald will provide the sounds of the season and awaken in you childhood memories of Christmas at the hearth and under the tree. We extend a warm welcome to you for this our annual event. "A remembrance of things past."

Discover the past in an unusual display of quilting and handmade gifts at The Icehouse Gift Shop. Explore the world of stenciling with Madonna Ferguson, noted stencil artist. You'll enjoy her new book and enjoy discussing this treasured art form with her.

You'll find both gift and decorative ideas which you can make to evoke the spirit of Christmas within and to draw out the spirit of the season in those you love. From quilts to kits to antiques and more, we have a beautiful selection which will say "made especially for you with love." The Icehouse invites you to a Christmas season which is "a remembrance of things Weave Christmas past into the Christmas present in this year's Christmas Walk Open House. The season shines through the music of Lyle and Gail Schwandt on the hammered dulcimer and other unique instruments.

These most nostalgic of holidays are brought to life in the basket weaving of Bernie Dosch. You'll also see the most current selection of imported and domestic gifts. Sunday, November 17. A walk through Christmas past at Weaver's is truly "a remembrance of things past."

coat Roundup will take place Friday and Saturday, November 15 and 16 at Skip's Sport Shop. Expanded from past years, this event will include a large heated tent to serve as a warming house and information center.

Skip is expecting to hang 30 to 40 bucks from his buck pole and, as always, prizes will be awarded for a number of categories. First prize for the overall largest rack of antlers will be a Remington 30/06 bolt action rifle with a scope.

Information, including contest rules, can be obtained from Skip's Sport Shop.

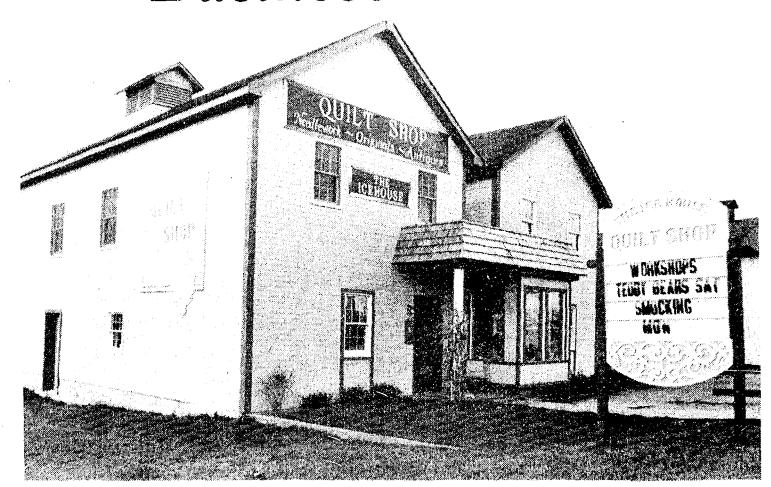

Schultz Heads Winter Carnival

(By: Terry Wright) The 1986 Grayling

Winter Carnival plans are well under way. The Chairman for this carnival is Tom Schultz of Fabiano Brothers Distributing and Tom is working closely with last year's Chairman John Naour.

The 1986 festivities will be held at Hanson Hills on February 8 and 9. Most of last year's celebration will be renewed and Tom has promised a few new surprises.

"The Icehouse" is located along Norway Street near downtown Grayling. It is adjacent to the old Pennsylvania Central Railroad and was erected for the purpose of ice storage. During the long cold Northern Michigan winters, properly dressed men with horse drawn wagons, ice saws and axes would travel to nearby lakes to cut blocks of ice. The ice was transported to the icehouse to be stored, and eventually used during food.

The railroad owned "the Icehouse", and the ice was used on the railroad dining cars during the summer.

As more modern refrigeration equipment was invented, and automobile transportation increased, the original purpose of the icehouse became obselete. Subsequently, the building was used as a feed storage warehouse, a beer storage warehouse, and eventually a building materials warehouse.

In the 1930's Rasmusson Lumber first leased the building from the railroad and utilized it to store building materials in. This use was continued by DuBois Lumber until 1980 when the building was remodeled for its present use.

The Icehouse was constructed so that it would bear the heavy load of ice and insulate it from the heat. Its foundation is deep and wide, the walls are thick with five layers of wood and tar ings.

paper, and the upper story floor has closely spaced, large support beams. These support beams are 4 x 12's spaced at 12 inches. They were covered with tin to form the upper level "ice floor". The ice floor sloped to the center of the building so that water from melted ice would flow to a center through and down a vertical drain into the ground.

The decision to remodel the old icehouse into the upcoming warm season mainly to preserve a retail store was made in 1980 by the present owner of DuBois Lumber, Dave Wyman. Work began by breaking up the concrete slab in the lower level. Two feet of dirt was excavated lowering the first floor so that there would be proper clearance below the second floor beams. Walls were insulated, windows and doors were installed, and a new floor and roof and siding were necessary. The Icehouse opened as a retail business in June of 1980.

In the fall of 1984 the Icehouse was connected to an adjacent building, which had originally been a clothespin factory. Terry Dickinson was the designer of the new Icehouse look.

The owners, Dave and Jill Wyman both enjoy antiques and have used them throughout the store for displaying merchandise. It was Dave's idea to call the business "The Icehouse" in keeping with its original use. The Icehouse is a specialty shop for quilters and needleworkers and people that enjoy and appreciate old build-

DSS Provides Work Program

(By: Ellen Goodman, Service Worker Crawford County D.S.S.)

Michigan Department of Social Services provides a valuable resource to its clients and the community via M.O.S.T. (Michigan Opportunity and Skills Training) Program. The program is designed to help clients increase their education and job skills to attain the goal of self support.

A component of M.O.S.T. Program is CWEP (Community Work Experience Program). A work and training activity which is designed to provide clients with meaningful work experience and work attitudes. Local public or private, nonprofit agencies provide the work training site.

Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce serves as one of the CWEP sites in this county. The Chamber provides excellent training to our clients in the areas of public relations, receptionist, and clerical duties. The community and clients benefit from this program as training and skills are learned. Clients are placed at the CWEP sites for six months then ideally reassigned to further education and hopefully employment.

Dining Out

(By: Terry Wright)

Englund's Table was the setting for a delicious Chicken Crepe. Fresh broccoli and tender chicken breast in a cheddar cheese sauce, wrapped with a crepe and smothered with more cheese sauce made a very enjoyable entre. The setting and service made an enjoyable evening. Skilled restaurateur Carleen Englund serves as hostess. I highly recommend Englund's Table.

This Saturday, November 16, you are in for a treat! The ladies of Grayling's Unit 106 will be having a Hunters Dinner from 5 to 9 p.m. We will be having Meatloaf, baked potato, vegetable, salad, dessert and rolls. The cost of this is $5.00 for Adults and $3.00 for children 12 and under. Stop down to the post and enjoy a great meal.

Keli Alimenti tells me that she can order Identi Kits. An Identi Kit is something anyone with children should have. These kits help the police if your child should become missing. I feel that they would be a great asset to have and it should help you to sleep at night knowing that you would have some identification of your child. Call Keli at 348-7756 for more information.

November 17-23 is Education Week. You know if we don't care about our childrens education, no one else will either. The children of today will be the adults of tomorrow. This is their time for learning. Be aware of their education. Stop in and visit your local schools and see to it that they are receiving a good education.

For all of you Feather Bingo fans, Sunday, November 24th is the day. From 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. our Auxiliary will be having their annual bingo down at the post. We are going to have many turkeys to give away. They may be able to talk me into calling bingo that day. Hope to see you there.

Until next time...Have A Nice Day!!
